SUSTAINABILITY

At Six Senses Ibiza, sustainability is more than a promise, it's deeply rooted philosophy that guides everything we do: from cultivating vegetables and fruits at our farm Can Tanca, to filtering and bottling our own water and eliminating single-use plastics, every action is designed to reduce our footprint and protect Ibiza's unique natural environment.

Upon opening Six Senses Ibiza became the first BREEAM certified resort (one of the world's leading sustainability property assessment methods) in the Balearics. Yearly, the resort dedicates its Regenerative Impact Fund, made up of 0.5 percent of total revenue, to support our NGO partners across educational projects and environmental matters.

In 2025, we took this vision further with the opening of the Farm Learning Centre — a space dedicated to the people and community of Ibiza. Set within our working farm, this living classroom offers workshops, seasonal harvesting, and hands-on experiences that reconnect guests and locals with the land. Programs also explore Ibiza's cultural heritage, native wildlife, and forest conservation, inspiring a more mindful way of life.

Visit our Earth Lab to meet our dedicated Sustainability Team and participate to hands-on workshops to replace plastic containers with alternatives and take this knowledge back home with us. At Six Senses Ibiza, every stay contributes to something greater, a future where hospitality and environmental stewardship go hand in hand.
